Temporary Office : The Parlors of the King Edward Hotel

Every citizen of Edmonton and vicinity who realizes the opportunities presented by the Edmonton Portland Cement Company, Limited, will have shares in this great enterprise to the extent of his ability to purchase, without delay. It is the biggest thing this country has ever known, and the purpose of this series of articles is to inform the public of what this institution means to this community.

The time worn phrase "distance lends enchantment" has its foundation in a fundamental fact of human nature, which always clothes with romance those things that are in the distance. The heroes of history are surrounded by a halo which they would never get if they lived in Western Canada today. The great world movement of immigration is the result of a wander-lust which the call of distant lands awakens. In anything, it is that which one sees in the distant perspective which charms the most. And it is what lies at ones very door that is most likely to be overlooked altogether. This is why Astronomy was the first of all the sciences and Chemistry the last to reach perfection, and it is why gold was first found in California in a cabbage patch.

The city of Edmonton has not exactly been raising cabbages where the wealth of gold lies hidden, but a muskeg swamp, which has heretofore served only as a summer resort for a particularly carnivorous tribe of mosquitoes, will shortly be the site of a prosperous town and instead of the buzz of pestiferous insects, the whirr and clash of machinery will be heard, and the tall smoke stacks of great mills will soon stand sentinel where today only the slender poplars await the coming of enterprise.

The marl deposit on the property of the Edmonton Portland Cement Company is sufficient for the manufacture of at least 12,500,000 barrels of Portland Cement, and no one now knows how much more. This means a future addition to the business of this community of at least $35,000,000 and a profit to the stock holders of the Edmonton Portland Cement Company, Limited, of at least $20,000,000. There have not been twenty gold mines on the American Continent, every one of which has produced as much wealth as is waiting to be claimed on this property at "mile twenty-three" on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

These are facts, and while the story would be easier for the people of Edmonton to believe if the good fortune had fallen to the lot of Calgary or Winnipeg or Quebec, or Halifax—the farther away, the easier would be the story to believe; the truth is this is the good fortune of Edmonton; no sadder or truer fact could be stated than that if the people of Edmonton realized what this opportunity means, every man and woman in this community who has an idle hundred dollars would have a share of stock in the Edmonton Portland Cement Company before the sun sets today.

As was stated in Article No 2, yesterday, prosperous cement mills are found wherever both of the necessary materials for Portland Cement Manufacture have been discovered, Portland Cement requires two materials which have no geological association and are therefore only found adjacent to each other by mere chance, marl or lime rock must be found for the carbonate of lime and clay, shale for the silica. Both of these materials in inexhaustible quantities and in their most accessible forms have been found on the properties of the Edmonton Portland Cement Company, Limited, within five miles of each other and both on the main line of a great railroad.

An abundance of cheap coal is near at hand and Portland Cement can be manufactured on this property cheaper than any other mill in Western Canada.

The market is waiting and at the very door. More than four hundred thousand barrels of Portland Cement will be consumed during the year 1911 in the City of Edmonton and the West along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railroad. One million two hundred thousand dollars will be sent to Eastern Cement Mills and paid in freight charges, for this cement.

The Edmonton Portland Cement Company expects to have its plant in operation by May of next year, and thereafter this vast sum of money will be kept at home, and the profit in this great business, more than six hundred thousand dollars annually will be distributed among the stock holders of the Edmonton Portland Cement Company, most of whom will be Edmonton citizens.

This is another reason why every man or woman in this city who has $100 or $10,000 of idle cash should subscribe for shares in the Edmonton Portland Cement Company Limited today.

THE SHEFFIELD CHOIR

Never before in Edmonton history has there been such a complete choir ever, tested in our city by the Sheffield Choir, under the direction of Dr. Charles Harris, and so well conducted by Dr. Coward, as was heard for the first time last night in the McDougall Church Auditorium.

Under the direction of Dr. Coward the immense space devoted to the usual local choral pupil and organist was filled with the grand height of the building, thus presenting an array of talented and well-educated voices, unequalled on the face of the globe.

Dr. Coward displayed no manner of shyness in his choice of songs, which opened with "O Canada," which burst upon the audience and thrilled every listener as the Canadian national hymn. The next selection, "Festal Sodden," if ever, heard from English choirs.

For the double chorus, "Sing Ye to the Lord" by Hatch, was stupendous—criticism would be idle in the face of such a performance, accompanied, with perfect precision, delectable expression and feeling, never a note out of place. The solo voices of the choir presented their difficult but perfect work in a manner of sound of song that was evident to pitch.

Lady Norah Noel, one of England's most celebrated solo voices, added an air of striking contrast to the heavy work preceding her, and in selecting "The Dovecote" for her solo, she failed to fail with her charm of a great yet charming singer, so greatly appreciated was Lady Noel throughout the audience.

"Come Back to Erin" appealed to every person in the audience, and Sullivan's "O Gladsome Light," unlike the previous chorals, was a masterpiece of beauty, the piano work being splendidly accented.

Dr. Coward's conductiveness in this program was most brilliant, the immense choir and fresh evidence of the high state of efficiency to which he had brought them.

Henry Turnpenny, as a baritone, was a great favorite, his splendid voice, clear and ringing, his auditorium bar a clearness and distinctness that was a genuine pleasure to all who were present.

What has been expressed as the finest musical evening ever presented in Edmonton, can only be imagined by anyone to imagine a peal of bells were actually within the auditorium.

Miss Jessie Targart occupied a role entirely alone as she sang one of the most attractive wails songs ever heard in Edmonton. How did she accomplish this class of work that she was compelled to give a solo? She did it with grace, poise and expression were perfect.

B. Charlesworth's bass solo was a tour de force, and his choice to enclose "Fogging Away" was very effective, and he richly deserved the ovation that followed.

Dr. Coward's final solo was a tour de force, and his choice to enclose "The Bell of St. Michael's Tower" was decidedly the finest and the most brilliant "tour de force" ever heard in Edmonton. No one could have expected to hear anything like this.

Henry Turnpenny gave immense pleasure in their duet "A Night in Venice," and the audience was unanimous in their verdict that an encore could not be given, although it was enthusiastically demanded.

What has been expressed as the finest musical evening ever presented in Edmonton, can only be imagined by anyone to imagine a peal of bells were actually within the auditorium.

The hour that an encore could not be given, although it was enthusiastically demanded.

STUDENT SELECTIONS.

Selections made by students rendered throughout by the school children, including several numbers by the girls' choir, "The Girls of the West," "The Bell" and "Rule Britannia" were all received with considerable applause.

At the conclusion of the program, the students selected from the best among them, were invited to delineate the building opened and on behalf of the school invited all present to inspect the building and inspect the building for themselves.

An informal committee composed of Mr. McNaughton, Mr. Nelson, the school board accounted for a number of the visitors around to the different rooms, and showed them the equipment and the furnishings of the building.

The souvenir number issued in connection with the ceremony and which contained the names of the students who came in for favorable comments. It gives a short history of the growth of the school, selected from the beginning together with an account of the work at present being done. The course is illustrated and the contrasts between the old and the new, of thirty years ago and the present is a significant comment on Ed蒙特的 growth.

PARLIAMENTARY EVIDENCE USED TO Bring In True Bill—Senators At Nelson.

Nelson, H. C. May 9.—A sensation developed at the opening session of the criminal court here yesterday when the grand jury presented a true bill in a case involving perjury and in two trials of men charged with the same offense.

Mr. McNaughton, president of the grand jury summoned one witness, Thomas H. Long, chief of police, of the city, who denied that he had been present at the trial.

The trial developed at the afternoon session, when the jury made its presentation to Mr. Justice Murphy of the Supreme court.

GRIMMERS' DEATH STORY

American Federation President Sends Wire to McNaughton.

Washington, May 8.—President Grimmers of the American Federation of Labor today in a telegram to J. M. McNaughton, president of the Senate, Washington, D. C., said that Mr. Taylor and James McNaughton, of the Senate, were dead.

By noon an audience of about a hundred people had gathered in the assembly room and the arrival of Lieutenant Governor Dill was signified for the proceedings to open with the singing of "God Save the King." Mr. Dill, however, refused to speak, his beard, bristled. The premier spoke a few words, first referring to the great depression, then to the difficulties on education to remember their responsibilities.

Mr. Dill thanked the people for the welcome given him and said that he had received him. He stated that he had just got his proper hearings as every other man in the country, the rules laid down for governing education in such things as the state.

The premier said that one ought to be satisfied with the contributions on the revenue side, and that the government had a long shock to a thoroughly modern building in which to house education, the new building, the new castle, the Maple Leaf, which anguished as much like home, he was reminded of a song, in which the words "will be omitted from the original, he thought the people of Alberta should be

Albert Purchase Ship.

Montreal, May 9.—A large line of steamship companies have formed the S.S. Association of the Holland-American Line, in order to strengthen that Glasgow service. The steamer "Edmon" was satiated that the charges were not a "frame up."

"We are still confident of your and your brother's innocence," said Mr. Dill, "but we will do everything lawful within our power to help in its establishment before the courts."

"ISLE OF SPICE"

The "Isle of Spice" is a gaily-costumed and strikingly original musical extravaganza.

This big musical success, which B. C. Whitney will present at the Grand Theatre on Friday evening, comes almost direct from the phenomenal run it enjoyed in New York, Chicago, Boston and other large cities.

The title, "Isle of Spice," at first glance might possibly suggest a somewhat exotic and mysterious character, but simply Canadian without any dividing lines.

RETURNS FROM TRIP OVER NEW TRAIL

J. B. Taft, of the New Bone, Return from Edson and Grande Prairie, Will Use Saddle Horses For Some Time on North Trail.

J. B. Taft, of the Edson-Grande Prairie trail, returned to the city. He reports that the first trip was successfully made in eight days, and that the second trip, the first trip, eight men made the trip through and a man and his wife went half way, where they will remain.

Mr. Taft says that the road is for the first hundred miles a hundred miles long, and the trail through new work on the road grading, building bridges and culverts and the trail is now passable. The road will be diverted for about 20 miles.

Men going north Mr. Taft crossed the Athabasca, the Baptiste and the Little Smoky on the ice, but forced the horses to walk across the ice.

Until he is able to get more feed into the northern end of his route he will not go north, but will follow the northern portion of the trail, since saddle ponies can travel on grass and will be heavy stage horses used as pack animals.

Passengers leave Edson in the stage wagons and travel as far as possible on horseback, and the trail is good for the passengers whose baggage is carried on pack horses. Two expert drivers are engaged to drive the teams.

While in the city, Mr. Taft is purchasing some more horses and expects to leave Edson next Friday on the next trip.

After this however, the stage wagons will be used, and on Monday the string of saddle ponies will leave the big Smoky on Saturday noon, thus making the trail available for exchange passengers and return.

Mr. Taft says that the settlers of Grande Prairie are rapidly increasing through reading. The acreage will be more than last year. Mr. Taft says that the population of 400 is to grow to 600 in 1912.

Two saw mills were operating in the Grande Prairie. Setters are the timber to build more communities.

Edson is growing and quite a lot of building is being done. Mr. Taft says that the lumber will have to get more supplies from Edson before spring.

The G.P.R. have a survey party working from Edson north towards Grande Prairie from Onaway. Peter G. Jackson, who has been clearing the right of way on the new C.N.R. line, which will run from Onaway to Grande Prairie, has been crossing the Pembina near Wright's Crossing and head northwest to Grande Prairie.

FORMAL CHARGES PREFERRED AGAINST TWO COMMISSIONERS

Aldermen Lundy and McInnis Are the Accusers—Charges Are Much the Same as Those Previously Brought in Against the Utilities Commissioner—Chief Complaint Against Finance Commissioner is That He Gave His Assent to What Mr. Bouillon Said and Did—Date for Formal Investigation Set For May 15.

Thirteen specific charges were made against Commissioner Bouillon at last night's regular meeting of the city council by Alderman J. E. Lundy and also against Commissioner McInnis and Commissioner Butchart by Alderman H. L. McInnis. The council as a committee of the whole voted to investigate the charges on Monday, May 11th. Copies of the charges have been shown to all members of the commission and they will be required to file the defense. In writing. Mayor Gowen, in a memorandum to Alderman Lundy, advised him that his notice of motion moved that two extra commissioners be added to the board of commissioners, and the motion was carried by a vote of five to two. Aldermen Lundy and McInnis and Alderman McKinley were appointed a committee to report at the next regular meeting.

Acting with the advice of the city solicitor, and in accordance with the judgment of the court, in the case Gallagher et al vs Armstrong et al., the members of the city council intent to make representations to the council, Jack Black business ability, and a general course of conduct which has caused friction between the commission and the corporation.

At the meeting Monday night, a surprise was sprung in the room of the City Solicitor. Mr. A. V. Butchart, who is placed in practically the same boat as Commissioner Bouillon, came to the council and told the members of the council that he had been called to the trial on Monday will be placed on oath, as the chief witness in the investigating charges against, of official power. The City Solicitor Bow will sit on the trial and Mr. A. V. Butchart, Two motions were passed in the council setting Monday morning as the time at which the charges will be heard by the whole council. These were later resubmitted on it being pointed out by Alderman Lundy that the chairman did not give the council enough examining witnesses under oath except what he had been previously committed. A motion was then introduced by Alderman Lundy that the whole committee of the whole be given the charges against Commissioners Bouillon and Butchart, and carried unanimously.

"If the council really want to succeed," said Alderman Hyndman when the charges were brought up, "Commissioner Bouillon has been read the Motion named as the day for the trial." This will be the first time in the history of the city that a motion will be made to name a date for the trial more than a week in advance. There is no ordinary law suit required twenty-one days to name a date for a trial. No man can prepare a defense in four or five days, and how is Commissioner to be expected that he has attended to the business of the city at the same time. This is not a farce but a real trial. There have not been up to the past administration of the power house and the problem Commissioners Bouillon was up against when he took office."

"Poor man," interjected Alderman Grindley.

"That remark shows your attitude to this affair," said Alderman Hyndman, "and I hope you will not want to give him a fair trial."

"I don't doubt Bouillon will stay on the job as long as he can while he is getting money out of it," returned Alderman Grindley.

"If you give him half a chance, you will give him more time than that," replied Alderman Lundy.

Alderman Gowen pointed out that an adjournment of the trial might be necessary.

To Appoint Extra Commissioners. According to notice of motion seven last night, Mr. A. V. Butchart, the extra commissioners he added to the board of commissioners. The motion was carried. Alderman Gowen carried with practically no discussion. Aldermen Lundy, McInnis, Grindley, Gowen and Alderman Hyndman and McKinley against it.

Alderman Hyndman, before the motion was taken upon, asked what reasons could be given why the city should spend $10,000 a year extra in commission expenses.

Alderman Grindley remarked that personally, he thought it would be a good idea to have two additional commissioners during the busy season. The present commissioners had not much to do, and he suggested that one of their offices be closed.

Ald. McKinley thought there might be an advantage in the appointment of extra commissioners but the council should remember that if there were no commissioners, the city would be unable to get rid of them.

Alderman Lundy moved that Alderman McInnis, Gowen and himself be a committee to name two additional commissioners. Alderman Gowen suggested that a majority of the positions be included in the committee appointed by Alderman Lundy. This suggestion was supported by Alderman Gowen, and Alderman Lundy, and Alderman Grindley and McKinley as a member of the committee. This motion was carried.

Ald. McKinley stated that he thought the time inopportune for the appointment of additional commissioners. Owing to the present disturbed state of the city's government, it would be impossible to get first-class men to consent to sit.

THE FORMAL CHARGES AGAINST MESSRS. BOUILLOUN AND BUTCHART

Following are the formal charges preferred by Ald. Lundy and McInnis against Commissioners Bouillon and Butchart. The charges in each case are substantially the same. Against Mr. Bouillon, the charges are as follows:

HIGH SCHOOL SOVENEUR

A souvenir of the Edmonton schools in the form of a book, illustrated, was distributed among the students of the High school building by Premier Rutherford yesterday afternoon. The souvenir was presented by James McCallum, who contributed to it the original copy of the "Soveneur" of the Edmonton public schools, and an interesting review of present conditions in the schools. The "Soveneur" in Edmonton was an embossed cover design. The new High school building, it furnishes as good conditions for the students as any school in the country. It can be found any place. The buildings are well equipped and the services of the school are provided for on two floors. It is built of wood and stone, and the interior is in a collegiate Renaissance style. It contains, in addition to the natural science suite consisting of physical and chemical laboratories, a large library, a reading room, together with dark rooms, prepared for the use of the students. Much has been made for domestic science teaching in kitchen, dining room, laundry, and wash room. A large library and wood and sewing room. At the top of the building is a large entrance door will seat six hundred persons. The building occupies a sub-basement. The ventilation is by an electric fan and steam heating. The heating and hot and cold plumbing is the best possible and installed by the best workmen. The house is for both boys and girls. The site on which the building stands contains 1.5 acres. The site of the building occupies the corner of two buildings, with room for the erection of other buildings on either side of the building.
